Title	Trail Segment
Date	1997-08-18
Date type	Creation
Date	2006-06-20
Date type	Revision
Abstract	A Trail Segment is a line feature which defines a linear corridor through the natural or urban environment, for one or more of the following recreational purposes; hiking, backpacking, biking, horseback riding cross-country skiing or snowmobiling or for access to campgrounds. These corridors may be long single segments or form a looping system. One Trail Segment is distinguished from another trail segment within the same trail by having different features or rankings. Additional Time Period Information: Data is collected on an on-going basis therefore the time period 'end date' may be more recent than indicated above.
Purpose	To identify the location and types of Trail Segments which are commonly found on maps for land use planning and recreation management purposes.
